Are you a thinker or a doer? Do you act on your thoughts?

A doctor, lawyer and writer were at their dance class, watching the teacher show them a new step, when a police officer came in. He was followed by a reporter who had a recorder to record what was going on. There was also a photographer; she talked to the manager who was also the owner. He had been a wedding planner before but had become a show winner and won a lot of money and married a singer whose parents had been a dancer and a swimmer.

They were taken to the police station where they were put in a cell with a diver, a fire fighter, a taxi driver and a bull fighter.
